

BEHIND EVERY TOP EXECUTIVE STANDS THE PERSON WHO HIRED THEM

Bijbaan naast je studie? (16-20 uur)

Amsterdam (Zuidas)

Nigel Wright Group is a leading international recruitment company specialising in the consumer sector. We have a global presence with 16 international offices and almost 160 employees.

Renowned for delivering service excellence and expertise, the business has enjoyed phenomenal success during its 28-year history; giving rise to an increasing international client base, expanding work force and network of offices. Our company is characterised by:

- Leading expert in the consumer goods sector
- Passionate about recruitment
- Professional and quality driven
- International environment
- Collaborative working style
- Attractive career opportunities
- Informal and social environment

We are now seeking to further strengthen our Dutch specialist consumer goods search team, with the very best talent in the market. People who can demonstrate they will drive real growth through our operation, those with an appetite to develop business.

As part-time researcher, you will be trained to develop the competencies of fundamental recruitment and research activities. The role is essentially a mix of recruitment process activities; including research and information gathering, international candidate headhunting and coordinating recruitment processes. The part-time research position is the first step to becoming a Junior Consultant, and we will work with a career plan for your development to become a Junior Consultant.

Working on international complex recruitment assignments is challenging and you will need to be organised, creative and determined. You will be exposed to individuals at the very top of a business, so it's expected that you are able to communicate with senior level candidates.

What kind of talent are we looking for?

- You are available for 16 – 20 hours a week
- Fluent in Dutch and minimum basic English skills
- Social and extravert personality with drive
- Ambitious and eager to learn
